

SIA Membership Categories & Privileges

Introduction

The Stormwater Industry Associations of Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia and Western Australia are autonomous entities that support common goals. Each of these SIAs are regulated by the laws of the state in which they were incorporated. Stormwater Industry Association Ltd was established by the state SIAs and a protocol was adopted that enables all SIAs to interact constructively, adopt common membership categories and offer membership privileges to interstate colleagues.

The protocol promotes Individual, Corporate, Sustaining and Student memberships. The Sustaining category is best viewed as a federal category that is managed by SIA National on behalf of the state SIAs. The other categories are managed by the individual state SIAs.

Most members usually join the SIA of their resident state but the protocol enables membership of interstate SIAs. Membership may also be upgraded and transferred to an interstate SIA.

If members join an interstate SIA, they need to be aware that they may not receive all notices about local events and will not be eligible to stand for the Committee of the SIA of their resident state – unless they also join their local SIA.

Individual Membership

This category accommodates individuals and entities that only employ one or two stormwater practitioners. Individual Members receive regular copies of the SIA Bulletin and are entitled to SIA membership discounts for local and interstate seminars, conferences and workshops organised by the Stormwater Industry. Other advantages are offered from time to time.

Individual Members are eligible to stand for election to their state Committee and may be invited to join event and technical sub-committees.

Individual Membership is the key membership category. All other membership categories are based upon this category.

Corporate Members

Corporate Membership is available for all organisations including companies, municipal councils, statutory authorities, unincorporated entities and other formal and informal interest groups with appropriate interests in the state of the association they are seeking to join.

Corporate members may nominate four representatives. Membership is deemed to be vested in the representatives who are obliged to abide by the Rules of the state SIA.. Corporate Member sponsor their representatives.

The representatives of Corporate members enjoy the same privileges as Individual members.

All employees of a Corporate Member are entitled to SIA membership discounts for local and interstate seminars, conferences and workshops organised by the Stormwater Industry.

Should a Corporate Members wish to nominate more than four representatives to their state SIA, the additional representatives will be accepted at the Individual Member subscription rate but the customary joining fee for these additional representatives will be waived.

Employee redeployment or departure is accommodated. The corporation may revise its nominated representatives during the subscription year provided the changes are advised in writing and all new representatives provide an undertaking to abide by the Rules of the state SIA.

Sustaining Membership

This is a special membership category which is managed by SIA National. Applications for Sustaining Membership must be made directly to SIA National.

A Sustaining Member may nominate up to twelve representatives. SIA membership is deemed to be vested in the representatives. The Sustaining Member is the sponsor of their representatives.

The representatives may be attached to one or more state SIAs and will be deemed to be Individual Members of their host SIA provided they complete a membership application form provided by their host SIA and undertake to be bound by the Rules of the host SIA. The representatives will not be recognised until the application form is completed and the undertaking is provided.

Sustaining Members are not required to pay membership or joining fees to state SIAs.

All employees of a Sustaining Member corporation are entitled to SIA membership discounts for local and interstate seminars, conferences and workshops organised by the Stormwater Industry.

Employee redeployment or departure is accommodated. The corporation may revise its nominated representatives during the subscription year provided the changes are advised in writing and all new representatives provide an undertaking to abide by the Rules of the state SIA.

Sustaining Members will be acknowledged by SIA National in regular publications and enjoy other privileges.

New Sustaining Members are requested to provide a list of representatives and are required to advise SIA National of changes in their representation. These changes and the associated contact details will be passed on to the relevant state SIAs.

A significant portion of the fees collected from Sustaining Members is remitted to the state SIAs to enable them to support the representatives.

Student Members

May upgrade their membership to the Individual Membership category at favourable rates

Receive a subscription to all regular and occasional publications published by SIA National other than special reports, technical papers, conference proceedings other limited distribution publications.

Are entitled to SIA member's discounts for local and interstate seminars, conferences and workshops organised by the Stormwater Industry.

Membership Transfers & Category Changes

A representative of a Corporate or a Sustaining Member who leaves their employer or ceases to be a nominated representative of their employer, is entitled to take up the status of an Individual Member of a state SIA of their choice. The fee payable by the transferee will be the Individual Member fee calculated on a pro rata basis for the number of a whole months remaining in the subscription year. No joining fee is payable.

Individual Members may also transfer membership between state SIAs at any time without penalty. No additional fees will be payable provided they have paid all subscriptions and fees for the current membership year to their original SIA.

Student Members may transfer to Individual Membership provided that they contribute an amount equal to the difference between the annual student and individual fees for the balance of the subscription year calculated on a pro-rata basis.

Individual Members may transfer to corporate membership provided that they contribute an amount equal to the difference between individual and corporate joining fees and an additional amount equal to the annual fees for the balance of the subscription year calculated on a pro-rata basis for the additional three representatives.

Membership Renewal

SIA National sends renewal invoices to Sustaining Members. The state SIAs manage all other renewals. Corporate and Sustaining Members are requested to return a completed representative list at renewal time. SIA National provides extracts from the Sustaining member representative list to the relevant state SIAs.